

Native Americans in Film and Video

Sessions A | June 24 to August 2 | Tues Thurs 5 - 8pm
Location: Physics and Astronomy 2748

This course will look at Native Americans in film from a variety of perspectives. We will discuss indigenous filmmaking as a distinct social practice in relation to Hollywood and explore themes such as images of violence, Indian women, and Native American humor. Finally, we will look at how the movies' style and techniques impact Native American images today.

register at: www.ursa.ucla.edu